

FATE OF PRIVATE PARKS
TO PLAY IMPORTANT PART

KILLING OF DEMENTED AMERICAN TROOPER MAY BLOCK ALL PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

INVESTIGATION URGED

Conditions at Tampico Are Reported As Improving—Rebels Have Captured Tuxpam.

Washington, May 16.—The state department officials waited today for a reply from the Huerta government to the urgent inquiry made by the Brazilian minister at Mexico City at the request of Secretary Bryan, for information concerning the whereabouts of Private Samuel Parks, the American soldier who, in full uniform, strayed into Huerta's lines, while probably on duty, and was captured by the rebels. It was reported that the state Parks had been executed and others that his body had been burned.

Demand Word.
The note to Huerta declaring that unless information of the fate of Parks immediately was given, the American government would consider it "an unfriendly and hostile act" followed in the wake of two other communications. The last message, drafted by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, was sent to the British minister in Mexico City.

He was requested to take it up with Huerta to explain the strong feelings of the Washington government over the incident, and to make vigorous attempts for a definite reply.

What course the president would pursue in the Parks case was not indicated.

Spanish Ambassador Riano today received a dispatch from the Mexican minister of foreign affairs stating that vigorous investigation of the disappearance of Samuel Parks immediately would be made by the Mexican authorities. The dispatch was in reply to a note sent by Mr. Riano, calling attention to the anxiety of the United States government as to Parks.

No Official Word.
Mr. Bryan said that he had received no word from the British envoy that Parks, who went through the Mexican line in his uniform, had been executed, but it is known that the minister, as well as General Funston at Vera Cruz, had been repeatedly told that they believed the young private had met with a summary execution and that his body had been mutilated and destroyed. Neither have been able to report to Washington, the Mexican federal commander's account of what happened. War department officials say they assume that he met his death in a manner unofficially made known to them by General Huerta, through the Brazilian minister. Secretary Bryan declined to make the text of the report known, but said that it was "urgent."

Last night's report agrees with the report received today from Consul Canada, that Tuxpam on the eastern coast of Mexico is in the hands of the constitutionalists. This also raised the question of the possible occupation of Lobo Islands by the constitutionalists, which lies only a few miles from Tuxpam. The Huerta light-house-keeper turned over the light-house to American naval forces, who have kept the light burning.

Lighthouse Cases.
The state department has since adjusted the matter by offering to turn the lighthouse back to Huerta-keepers if they would keep the light burning. The approach of the constitutionalists to Tuxpam would present a new issue as to carrying out the offer to restore the lighthouse to Huerta-keepers, or else turn it over to the constitutionalists, if they occupy the island and agree to run the lights.

Interest in the mediation program in the Mexican crisis centers in the arrival here this afternoon of the Huerta delegates. Diplomatic officials and the state department were rushed throughout the morning, making plans for the meeting of the Mexican representatives. President Wilson has a conference for late in the day, scheduled with the American representatives to the mediation meeting at Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Arm Shipments.
Secretary Bryan said today that the question of permitting the shipment of arms from the United States to Mexican ports, was not before the state department for consideration. In view of Secretary Garrison's explanation that prohibition of further shipment of arms across the Mexican border, was at his direction. This applies only to the border. No attempt can be made to ship arms to Tampico or Tuxpam.

Secretary Daniels, however, said that representatives of two of the largest ammunition establishments in the United States, conferred with him, and said that if the situation became acute in Mexico, they would not send any further shipments into Mexico to either of the factions there. Mr. Daniels further said that this was the only way in which patriotic Americans should look at the matter, and the proper course to pursue.

Sank Gunboat.
Rear Admiral Mayo reported to the war department today that the Mexican federal gunboat, Vera Cruz, recently reported to have been abandoned, was sunk in the Pamuco river at Tuxpam.

Admiral Craddock, commander of the British naval forces at Tampico, called yesterday with his entire staff and two captains on General Gonzales, commander of the constitutionalist troops. Admiral Mayo said he had arranged for a call today, but with the understanding that the visit was to be an informal one.

Business Resumed.
The American admiral added that business at Tampico is resuming slowly. It is said that oil ships were here yesterday. Perfect order is being maintained by the constitutionalists in the town and surrounding country. No banks are open, and money is extremely scarce.

Admiral Badger reported from Vera Cruz that the cruiser Chester had sailed for Puerto Mexico, to join the three other American war vessels there.

Promise Protection.
Mexican constitutionalist forces, under General Gonzales, now occupying Tampico, have assured the United States Consul Miller there that American and other foreign people may return to the city and that every consideration would be shown them. Consul Miller reported that everything was quiet, and the city had been in perfect order since General Gonzales had occupied it.

A report from American Consul Bonney, now on his way from San Luis Potosi, states that no Americans were killed in his district, so far as could be learned when he left. All railroads are paralyzed by lack of fuel, mainly.

Evacuate Cities.
That Mexican federalists had evacuated Montevideo in Cochila and that six hundred constitutionalists under General Murguía had taken possession of the town, moving from Ciudad Irifrio Diaz, was reported today at the state department. It is reported that the federalists before evacuating the city destroyed practically all American property.

FOR INSULTING FLAG

Italian Ambassador Demands Investigation of American Sailors Trampling on Flag.

Washington, May 16.—Mr. Consolenti, the Italian Ambassador, called on Secretary of State Bryan today in regard to a reported insult to the Italian flag by two American seamen in Philadelphia, May 14. The flag was displayed in front of a barber shop at the time of the memorial exercise, which were held over American victims of the Vera Cruz incident. It is thought the American seamen thought it was the flag of Mexico being displayed. The flag was pulled down and trampled on. Mr. Bryan assured the ambassador that any Americans found guilty of such an offense would be punished. It is said that this explanation was accepted as satisfactory.

CONSIDER NEW RAILWAYS IN NORTHERN WISCONSIN
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Eau Claire, Wis., May 16.—That the northern section of the state is to have more railroads within a short time is the opinion of many in this part of the state. It is known that the Milwaukee has been considering a line through to Superior, but now it is believed other roads are anxious to get into a territory which is rapidly developing. The following from the Ladysmith News-Budget claims that the Omaha road has intentions of its own.

"Railroad locators have reached Ladysmith and have this week been seeking the best means of access to the city.

"While they are very reticent as to details, it can be safely stated that they are in the opinion of many in this railroad, as they worked up from the south, presumably from near Holcombe.

"To build from Holcombe to Ladysmith would be a matter of about eighteen miles and would be the mean of giving the Omaha access to some fine territory, including Ladysmith, which give a liberal share of its business to the new line.

"If the project materializes the line would not doubt be extended beyond this city, perhaps to a junction with the line now running from Birchwood to Park Falls. This would open up a territory to Ladysmith and would give direct access to the immense timber holdings of the Menasha Wooden Ware company.

"The new line is built it will probably enter the city on the west side, as that appears to be the most feasible route.

DEMOCRATS VOTE AGAINST INCREASE IN NAVY PROGRAM

Senator Stone in Speech Declares Coastwise Exemption Provision Is Not Violation of Treaty.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The inconsistency of the democratic party has been strikingly illustrated during the debate in the Senate on the bill providing for the repeal of the free toll provision of the Panama Canal Act. Senator Stone of Missouri, is chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. In a remarkable speech recently delivered on the floor of the senate, attempting to justify the surrender to Great Britain, Senator Stone declared:

"No foreign country is making any effort or in any wise attempting to exercise an influence, so far as I know, intended to effect the legislation upon which we are engaged. So far as I am advised all foreign governments have been standing aloof with hands off since the passage of the act of 1819.

Here we have the authority of the democratic chairman of the committee on foreign relations of the senate that no other foreign government outside of Great Britain has made any protest. This is directly in contradiction of what the president endeavored to convey to congress. It is wholly at variance with what many democratic leaders have declared. It demolishes many of the arguments so far advanced.

Senator Stone goes further and declares that the coastwise exemption provision is not in violation of any treaty. It would appear to be necessary for some one to criticize the foreign policy of the White House with that of the senate committee on foreign relations.

One of the strongest speeches against repeal heard during the entire debate was that of Senator O'Gorman of New York, democratic chairman of the senate committee on Internal Affairs. Senator O'Gorman declared:

"I have never bolted a democratic candidate nor a democratic platform, and I do not intend now to take my place with the repudiators of party pledges. The party platform is the pledged word of men of honor declaring what their policies will be if they attain power. It is either that or a shifting, dishonest, unconscionable pretense whereby a confiding electorate is misled."

While Senator O'Gorman was cautious in his criticism of President Wilson, he inserted a quotation from Wilson's book on "Congressional Government," in which the publicist said:

"His (the President's) only power of compelling compliance on the part of the senate lies in his initiative in negotiations, which affords him a chance to get the country into such scrapes, so pledged in the view of the world to certain courses of action, that the senate hesitates to bring about the appearance of dishonor which would result from its refusal to ratify the rash promises or to support the indiscreet threats of the department of state."

"Let us take this admonition," declared O'Gorman, "and as patriots and senators perform our duty as our own conscience and judgment dictate."

Senator O'Gorman made a masterly legal argument, answering complete the contention that the canal act violated treaty obligations. The administration seems, however, to no longer advance that argument, but argues repeal upon economic grounds.

It appears almost incomprehensible that the daily prospect of war breaking out, and with Vera Cruz now occupied by American naval forces, that in the congress of the United States, forty-one members should vote against the building of a single battleship. Of these forty-one members, forty were on the democratic side. An attempt was also made to limit the building program to one battleship instead of two as carried in the bill, but the two battleship advocates won out by a vote of 202 in favor and 106 against. The overwhelming majority of opposition votes came from the democratic side.

RETREATING REBELS

Fear Pestilence at Mazatlan as Rebels Destroy Water Supply and Stop Railroad Connections.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
On board the U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 15, via wireless to San Diego, Cal., May 15.—An outbreak of pestilence is feared today because the water supply at Mazatlan is still cut off by the retreating rebels and sickness is increasing with alarming rapidity.

The governor of Mazatlan disarmed the police of the city today on account of the plea of lack of ammunition in case of an attack made against the city. It is believed, however, that the real cause is fear of an internal revolt.

General Ovraton, commander of the constitutionalists, is apparently working southward for the purpose of cutting off the railroads connecting Mazatlan and Mexico City, before beginning operations elsewhere.

It is supposed in cutting off railroads of Mazatlan that the west coast cities will fall without further resistance.

Ovraton has given full assurance that American and foreign property in the territory of Tepic will be protected.

EXEMPTION DEFENDED
IN WALSH'S ADDRESS

MONTANA SENATOR URGES CONGRESS TO SUBMIT QUESTION TO SUPREME COURT.

Washington, May 16.—The statement that William Jennings Bryan deliberately approved the toll exemption claims of the democratic platform, as a member of the subcommittee on the resolution which prepared today by Senator Walsh of Montana, secretary of the subcommittee.

It is a subtitle for the repeal bill. Senator Walsh urged the adoption of ex-President Taft's proposal, to submit the controversy to the supreme court.

The Montana senator took up at length the Baltimore case, and said it had been intimated that the toll plank had been inserted surreptitiously, and it was declared the subcommittee had even received the proposed toll plank from Senator O'Gorman.

"There was no debate upon it, simply because it was generally approved," said Senator Walsh.

He said Mr. Bryan and Senator O'Gorman were asked to put the plank in appropriate language, and invited Senator O'Gorman and himself to assist.

"When the toll plank was presented," said Walsh, "Mr. Bryan expressed his approval, but said it should be accompanied by another plank, bearing the deputy mission of declaring the admission of railroad owned ships to the canal, so the platform reads after the declaration concerning tolls:

"We also, note the also-favor legislation forbidding the use of the Panama canal by ship, owned or controlled by railroad carriers, transportation connected with the canal."

Senator Walsh said he had no intention to escape from the trammeled platform's pledge to sue on the canal, which was contradicted by another against the subsidies.

"Why, in that view the canal itself is a subsidy to the shipping interests. Why don't we spend $400,000,000 to build it, except to aid shipping interests?"

TURK SOLDIERS HAVE HAD TIME LEARNING USE OF KNIFE AND FORK.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Constantinople, May 16.—Not since it supposedly invincible battalions were called back to the advance at Lule Burgas has the Turkish army experienced a greater shock than the order issued by the new Secretary of War, Enver Bey, that hereafter all Turkish soldiers must eat with a knife and fork.

The enlisted men are not only alarmed at the prospect of handling the strange implements, but are hurt by the intimation that if fatal heads, which have always served the primary purpose of conveying food to their mouths, should be deemed no longer fit for that service.

Turkish private is not proving an pupil. When his superiors are absent he sits upon the floor and devours his food in the good old fashion, but at the approach of an officer he scrambles to a seat at the table and falls to wielding his new weapons with all the skill he can command.

The civilizing process is not to sten with teaching the Turkish soldier table manners. The edict has also gone forth that he must learn to read and write.

St. Louis, May 16.—American intervention is the only solution of the Mexican trouble, according to Wm. A. White, grand master of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Mexico, who arrived here to attend the conference of the Masonic Grand Masters.

Many of the Mexican delegates are allied with Huerta for protection, it is said, are praying that the United States take control of affairs in Mexico so they will be sure their business is safe. The Mexican crowd, they think they can whip the United States, and have the impression that we are cowards because we have been so lenient with them, but one battle with modern artillery will be enough to run all the Mexican fighters out of the country.

HUTCHCROFT SPEAKS AT BUILDERS' MEET
Member of State Board of Health Gives Address at Open Meeting.

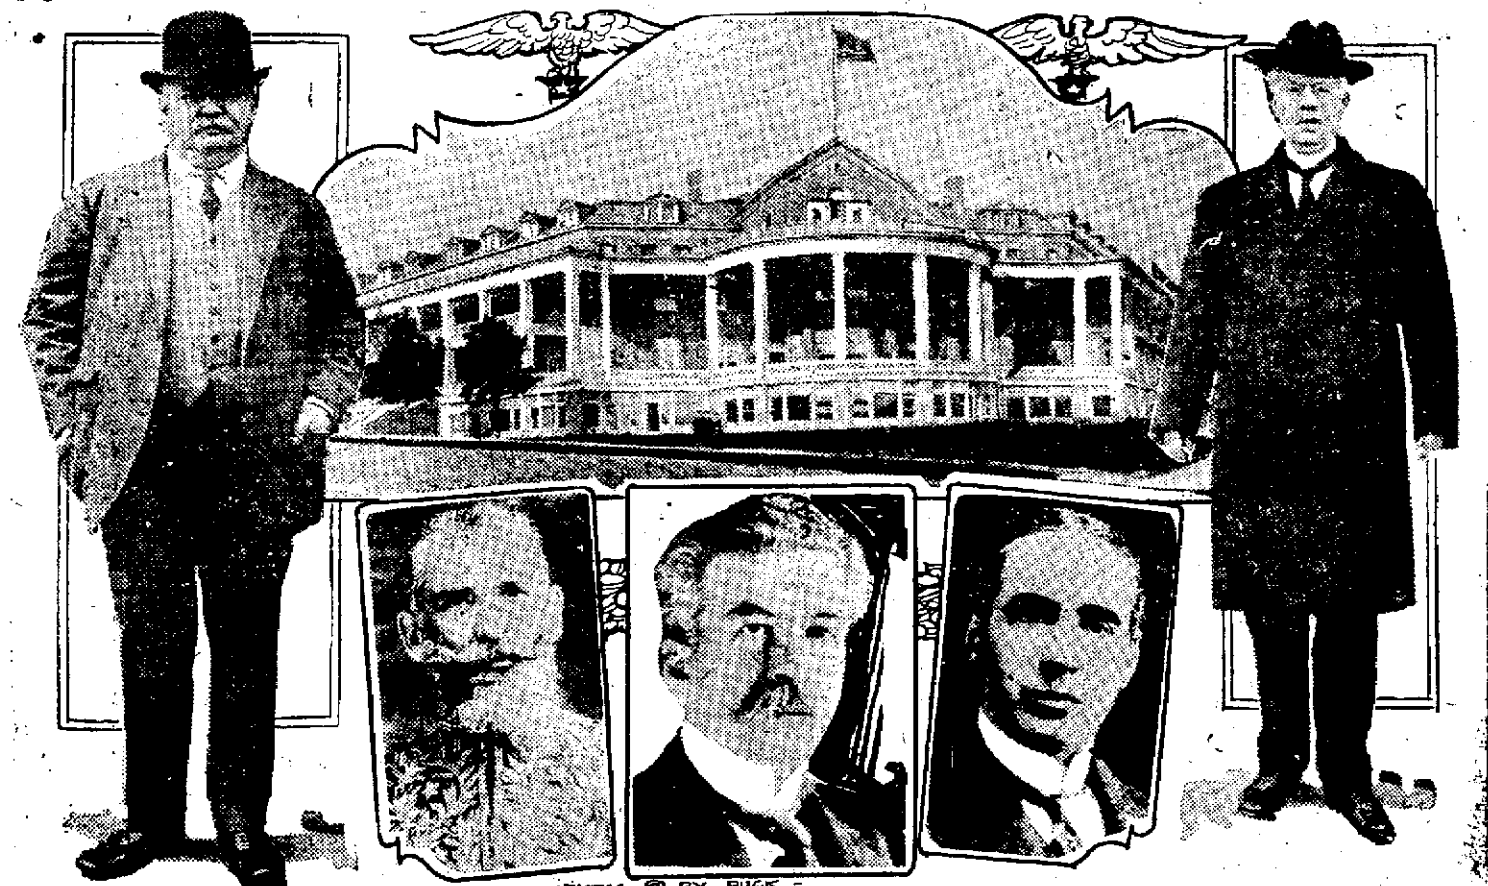

Commissioner L. W. Hutchcroft of the State Board of Health was the speaker at the open meeting of the Builders Exchange held at the City Hall last evening. The subject was "Flies and Sanitation" which he treated in an effective manner. He spoke of the fly as a menace to a city's health conditions because it carried many deadly diseases among the people. Great efforts should be made to exterminate the fly in the early spring before they breed. In this way the fly question will be made easy to solve.

He further gave a review on the recently passed plumbers code. This code will be of great importance to the city in improving the sanitary conditions, he stated.

The meeting was attended by about thirty members of the Civic League who manifested great interest in the subject and the plans which he advanced to combat the evil. Although the attendance was not as large as was expected it was a decided success from the promoters' standpoint.

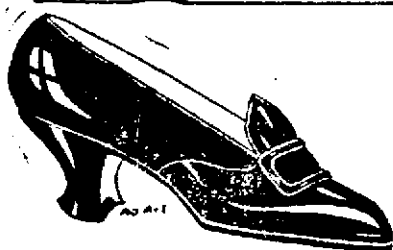

Meet Monday Evening. The civic council of the Civic League will meet Monday evening next at the City hall at seven-thirty to perfect their organization and plan for the summer's work.

HIS COMPANY FIRST IN VERA CRUZ FIGHT

GEORGE BANCROFT, ANOTHER ROCK COUNTY LAD, SEES ACTIVE SERVICE.

A TASTE OF REAL WAR

In a Letter to His Sister He Describes Operations of Eight Thrilling Days at Mexican Seaport.

George B. Bancroft, son of George D. Bancroft, of the town of Harmony, was a member of the first company of blue-jackets to land at Vera Cruz. He is with the U. S. S. New Hampshire, and has been on the scene of warlike activity from the first. In a letter to his sister, Miss Florence Bancroft, under the date of May 1, he describes something of the operations during eight days on land and encloses a clipping from the Mexican Herald, a newspaper published in Spanish, which gives a graphic account of the fighting. The letter runs as follows:

Among First to Land.
I suppose the newspapers have told all about our landing and taking possession of Vera Cruz. There is no use of my trying to describe it now. I will send you a clipping from a paper that is printed here in Spanish, which pretty thoroughly explains the work of the second regiment of blue-jackets. It was composed of sixteen companies, twelve hundred and forty-six men, and I was in the first company. I had as merry a time as anybody.

"Come very near getting my name in the paper. Notice in the clipping where it says Lieut. Johnson and two men of the field etc. well, I was one of the other men, and the wounded man was a shipmate of mine named Cahill. He was shot through the thigh. The bone was not hit and he is doing nicely, as are all of our wounded."

Five Comrades Killed.
"From this ship there were five killed and eleven wounded. No other ship lost more than two men. The total number of casualties was seven killed and sixty-four wounded on our side. About the Mexicans I can't say, but it was much greater.
"We were ashore eight days and that was enough. Slept in all kinds of places, but never under a roof or even a tent. Had my leggings and shoes off two nights. Ate everything from hardtack to boiled chicken. Lost ten pounds and wouldn't miss ten more."

"I guess the war is over now as far as we are concerned, as between three and four thousand regular soldiers came down from Galveston under command of General Funston, and we turned the city over to them yesterday with all kinds of pomp and ceremony. There are rumors of sending us to Tampico to land, but I hardly think it will come to pass. I believe inertia will come to some kind of terms when he sees we mean business. If they don't settle things soon I may have to serve overtime."

Referring to the climate young Bancroft says: "I suppose it's a nice spring weather in Wisconsin now. My seasons are twisted up something terrible. I have jumped from summer into the middle of winter, then back into summer, then into early spring, and now it's the hottest kind of summer weather again. The sun shines so bright down at noon. I don't know how long we will stay here but I guess it will be at least until July."

Tells of Operations.
The clipping referred to tells of the operations of the blue-jackets in part as follows:

"The regiment composed of battalions of infantry from the battleships New Hampshire, South Carolina, Vermont and New Jersey and a battalion of Artillery, under the command of Captain Edwin A. Anderson, U. S. Navy, as regimental commander, and Lieutenant Commander R. J. Johnson, as adjutant, was landed at four o'clock in the morning of April 22 immediately upon arrival in the harbor. The regiment was formed in the open field near the Terminal docks, where it rested until daylight."

"The only custom house and immediate vicinity was then in control of the United States forces, the second naval regiment was directed by the brigade commander and Admiral Fletcher to march to the southeast of the city and take possession of the naval academy, the artillery and infantry barracks, which were in possession of the Mexican forces."

"At six o'clock the regiment started on the march to the academy and barracks which is adjacent. Captain Anderson and staff and the New Hampshire battalion lead the attack. The naval academy and barracks are huge stone structures with walls a foot thick. Machine guns were mounted behind these walls and rifle-men stationed on the roofs, at the windows and in the stone buildings on both sides of the street."

Under Heavy Fire.
"As the regimental staff and the New Hampshire battalion turned the corner of the street a terrific fire was opened on them from every angle and it was only due to the poor marksmanship of the Mexicans that the staff and battalion were not mowed down. The New Hampshire battalion returned the fire, dropping prone on the pavement and taking shelter behind the facades of buildings. Under cover of the New Hampshire's fire the other battalions of the regiment returned to an open field and deployed a skirmishers bring at the windows of the buildings nearest them.

"The United States S. Chester anchored close to shore, opened fire on the naval academy and other buildings. To avoid the danger of shells from the Chester falling among the regiment, the New Hampshire battalion retired to the field near the lighthouse tower."

"At this time the artillery of the second regiment under the command of Lieutenant Grady was brought into action and opened with shrapnel on the stone building. The shells exploded upon striking the stone, killing nearly everyone inside. The regiment was assembled near the lighthouse tower and the dead and wounded attended to while the artillery kept up the bombardment."

Signal Station Established.
"At 12:10 o'clock in the afternoon, the second regiment signal corps under Lieutenant McNair established a station in the lighthouse tower and communicated with all the ships in the harbor. Through this station was sent the signal to the Chester to attack the Mexican steamer Gobernador as she had fired on the rear of the second regiment's men."

Then comes the part referred to in Mr. Bancroft's letter. "A lieutenant Johnson of the New Hampshire and two men from his company were bringing a wounded man from the field. The man was lying on the ground, one of which was flying the Mexican flag. A shot from this house wounded Lieutenant Lannon, who was assembling his battalion. Artillery and rifle fire was directed at these houses and they were silenced. A company was sent to capture the occupants, one of whom possessed consular papers. Rifles and ammunition were seized and the inhabitants made prisoners."

The account continues giving other interesting details of the engagement. Enough has been reprinted to give some idea of the actual excitement.

CURES THE FALLEN ARCH

A Tree Designed to Preserve the Shape by Preventing Collapse.

Fallen arch is a malady which attacks hand baggage, the result of these pieces being carelessly stored away between trips in an empty condition. The weight of the frame bears down and the flexible leather sides being unable to offer the proper support, the thing flops into an ungainly and unattractive shape from which it never recovers. The War Game.

War is an extremely simple game. A number of armed men are sicked upon another body of armed men, and they engage in the highly exciting and diverting sport of maiming and slaying one another. The contestant which can slaughter the most combatants and starve the most non-combatants is adjudged the winner. Simple, is it not?

TALKS ON THRIFT

No. 9—Saving For A Home

"Thrift and providence are primary qualities and necessary to all who are to make the most out of life and its opportunities." — Mayor Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland.

There have been many plans to force the habit of thrift upon people otherwise careless of their savings, but it is doubtful if any other system excels that which a man voluntarily assumes when he decides to acquire ownership of his own home by means of monthly payments, covering principal and interest of the loan.

So fickle is the human mind that the only absolute guarantee of carrying out a good intention is to make it impossible to violate it, and that is practically what is done when a man puts himself in a position where he must keep up certain regular payments or run the risk of losing his home.

Every normally constituted man has the ambition some time to own the roof over his head. It is the best way to live.

To accomplish this object, the average man who must depend largely upon his own efforts, requires energy, self-reliance and a determination to overcome all obstacles.

If he starts a savings bank account and makes weekly deposits therein to accumulate the first cash payment invariably required of a house builder or buyer, he will learn lessons of method, order and punctuality in business arrangements that will stand him in good stead when he undertakes to swing the house-owning proposition later on.

And even if you don't make a life-long home of the first house you buy or build, nevertheless you are doing a wise thing to save and invest in this way.

This is illustrated by the typical experience of a young couple who started housekeeping in a New Jersey suburb of New York a few years ago.

With the aid of one of the building and loan associations which abound in New Jersey, they built a house, after having paid for their lot with savings withdrawn from the bank for that purpose.

At the end of several years they had an equity in the property amounting to about $4,000. At that time there came to this man an especially good opportunity in another State, and he was compelled to sell his home in order to move.

This he was able to do easily, receiving a good cash payment on the property and a second mortgage for the balance (the building and loan association holding the first mortgage, which was assumed by the new buyer of the house).

So the original home builder now has the income from the mortgage to add to his other earnings, while the successor in the ownership of the house is steadily increasing his equity by monthly payments and in time will own his home free and clear.

It is plain that fortune must fairly take some of us by the nape of the neck and hold us to force riches upon us. Few wage-earners or salaried persons following their own sweet wills, ever acquire a competence through willings, who have been enriched by the experience in spite of themselves.

Start a savings account, buy a home and force yourself to save.

GRANDALL TO TWIRL AGAINST BELOIT ON SUNDAY FOR CARDS

Cardinals Hoping for Victory Against North Ends—White Sox Play Beloit Nationals at Yost.

The Janesville Cardinals bid fair to open their season against the Beloit North Ends at Beloit Sunday afternoon with a victory. Besides an eighteen man battery, the infield will be composed of a fast quartet, and the whole nine are heavy hitters. The North Ends started their season with a victory and have Bush, a Madison league hurler, and Wilson, a former Card catcher, for the battery. For the Cards Fraser of Footville will hold down the initial sack and the Footville sacker, besides being a good fielder, has a pleasant habit of delivering timely hits. His record against the Cards last year denoted this. Tommy Sullivan will be stationed at the keystone cushion. Short will pitch and Treavor at third. Grandall, the Milton college star, will grace the mound for the locals and George has shown good form in several games that the Milton college nine have annexed so far this season. Hult will be his battery mate. This combination should have the North Ends guessing for when Grandall is right, hits come at fair intervals from his delivery. In the infield the Cards have plenty of material, including Porter, Sullivan, Berger, Nehr and Stewart. The business men of Janesville have subscribed nearly two hundred and fifty dollars toward the support of a good nine here and the Cards have a good schedule. On the 24th the Cards play here and on Decoration day they cross back to the stadium with the North Ends at the Driving Park diamond. Cuddy Butters will be added to the Cardinal pitching force when in shape, but will be in prime form for later games. Grandall will be held, for last year he pitched several sensational combats for the Janesville nine.

White Sox Play.
The Janesville White Sox will have a battle on their hands in defeating the Beloit Nationals at Yost park Sunday afternoon. The Nationals have a winning team to put against the Sox, having defeated a strong Madison nine last Sunday, four to nothing. The Sox have a notable outfield among the youngsters in Southern Wisconsin and this year bid fair to eclipse their previous records. Sunday Berger or O'Hara will twirl with Bleasdale at the receiving end. Stokney will hold down first, Stewart at second, Bitt at short and Ryan at third. For the infield Cronin, Finneran and Kennedy will compose the garden men. The Sox stockings had a good reputation as being the best fielding nine in their age in southern Wisconsin, having the baseball dictionary from the index to appendix. With a little work they should take the Nationals into camp for a starter.

Play Here.
At the driving park Sunday afternoon the Janesville Stars will close with the Chicago Hill Hawks. The Stars Ryan and Sush will be the favorites for the locals and Anderson and Dodge for the visitors.

It would seem that Jack Johnson is not underrating Moran's chances in the well advertised encounter of June. Lil' Artha has started real training already and from the preparations he has made he will put himself in the best possible shape by the time the battle draws nigh. He has selected a suburb of Paris as a location for his training quarters and chose one in particular owing to the excellent roads in its neighborhood. Fast foot work will be quite an item in the fight, Julius Johnson, and he is planning to do a great deal of road work. A number of different reports from abroad led Americans to believe that Johnson has attained a rotundity that would quite unfit him for anything like fighting. According to reliable reports, however, he is at present only twenty pounds over the weight of his fight with Jeffries. He has gathered about him a great corps of trainers and sparring partners.

Once in a while you run across a ball player with a real idea of what a good pitcher is. Larry McLean tells a good one about the rightest ball player he ever knew. "He was so tight he wouldn't tell you the right time. And Jack Graney has another good one about a tight ball player. 'That one was so tight,' says Jack, 'that he hated to wink in a moving picture show.'"

Jimmy Callahan is no longer opposed to the third base coaching rule. His Sox seldom get that far around.

Joe Birmingham, Cleveland Nap manager, is figuring on offering "Doc" Castle, the club physician, a regular contract. Ordinarily the club physician of a ball team is not such a very important figure. But the Naps have had such a deal of hard luck and so many injuries this season that Dr. Castle is anxious to make Dr. Castle a regular member of the squad. Castle has been M. D. to the Cleveland club for the past eleven

TRYING TO REPEAT HIS 1913 RECORD

Gabby Cravath.

Gabby Cravath, Philly slugger, who "came back" last year and led the National league in home-run clouts, is going after the big league four-base hitting record this season. He has made a good start. Incidentally he has two home runs in one game to his credit this season.

years and has never signed any sort of a regular contract. It is estimated that in that length of time he has repaired enough legs, arms, etc., of different players to make a complete major league team. This year the Naps have been unusually fortunate that Dr. Castle has been about the only regular member of the squad.

Jimmy Dime, George Chip's manager, doesn't drool about the "good old days" in the fight game. Jimmy appears, figures that the present day fighters are just as capable and then some—as the big ones of other days. "Gunboat Smith could lick the stuffing out of a whole roomful of John L. Sullivans," he said to a friend in Los Angeles last week.

Ray Caldwell's success with the New York Yanks is largely due to the help and advice of Frank Chance. Caldwell had always been a great mechanical pitcher and had all the stuff, but previous managers were unable to handle him and keep him in the straight, unwavering way. In spite of the Fed war and their many generous offers, Chance started in this season by firing Caldwell heavily for his miscreancies and offered to tie a can to him. And it has had all of the desired effect.

HANS INJURED, BUT HE'LL PLAY ANYWAY

Hans Wagner.

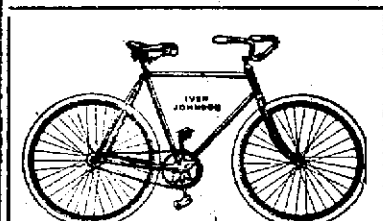

Hans Wagner, the veteran star with the Pirates, received an unpleasant cut on the hand in a recent game with Boston. In putting the ball on Mann at second he got in the way of one of the runner's spikes. Though the club doc insisted that Wagner lay off for a week, Hans refused to be inactive when the club needed his help.

Cuba City Miner Matched With Ned Carpenter For Next Platteville Bout—Challengee Jack Kelly.

Efforts are being made to organize a boxing and athletic club in Janesville under the direction of Jack McMahon, an expert director and boxer. McMahon is to take charge of a small class in Beloit and an attempt will be made to start one in Janesville.

Stanley Klosky the Platteville miner fighter evidently does not care to fight away from his home town, for he has been signed to meet Ned Carpenter the Souther heavyweight at the new Platteville match instead of accepting the bigger offer of the Bower City Club to box McMahon here. The challenges of the Janesville promoters and McMahon have gone unheeded and McMahon has signed a vaudeville contract at Platteville and the Pittsburgh hope will seek a future match with the miner in this way. Beloit in a match with Bobby Ward has been challenged for a match before the Janesville club, with McMahon. His recent showing against Moran of Chicago in two Beloit matches had almost convinced Beloit fans that he could whip anything that walks. McMahon's worth had not yet been demonstrated to the Janesville fans but those who have watched Kelly perform declare that it wouldn't take any world beater to trim him.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

The election in Janesville last Tuesday, which settled the question of city ownership of the waterworks, is worth considering for a moment, for results were significant, and rather difficult to understand.

The city has a voting population of more than three thousand, and two-thirds of the number are taxpayers, who would naturally be supposed to be interested in an investment of three hundred thousand dollars, for which they become responsible and must eventually pay.

It is safe to assume that the three hundred men who voted "no" on the proposition, were taxpayers, and it is also safe to assume that a majority of the men who voted "yes" are not property owners, but the spirit of indifference which influenced the two thousand men who didn't vote at all presents a problem of some importance.

The attitude of these indifferent voters explodes the theory that public questions which involve money investment should be settled by taxpayers, and that men who represent nothing by way of property should not be permitted to vote.

It is rather a sad comment on the intelligence of the community that these conditions exist, and yet it is very evident that we are more concerned over political issues which amount to nothing, than we are over a business proposition which contains all sorts of chances for failure.

The election last Tuesday was an object lesson for we said as taxpayers that we were ready to shirk all responsibility and turn the public business over to the hands of the minority, and this is what the American people are doing more and more every year.

City ownership and government ownership of public utilities are brands of latter day reform, inspired by socialism, and advocated by men whose ambition is to get something for nothing. It strikes a popular chord, because the most of us are bargain-hunters, and because all kinds of business is destitute of sentiment.

Many people are possessed of the notion that city-owned water means cheap water, and that rates will be so much reduced that the water tax will be insignificant. They also believe that mains will be laid to all parts of the city regardless of expense. Both are mistaken notions.

The average consumer will continue to pay for water about what he has always paid and the taxpayer will eventually pay for the plant, with the satisfaction of knowing that he permitted the debt to be saddled onto him by less than twenty-five per cent of the voters.

The use in which we live is erratic and there has never been a time in the history of the nation when property rights were so lightly regarded as today.

One of the men recently engaged in investigating the state university, found that some of the teachers and professors were drawing, in addition to their regular salaries, three other salaries from as many different commissions. In other words, their names appeared on four state pay rolls. He asked them how they could conscientiously do that, and they said it wasn't a matter of conscience, for they were rendering service to the people so valuable that the money consideration was insignificant.

That's a high-browed idea which gathers inspiration from our patriots at the seat of national government, who set the pace by deliberately and intentionally swindling the railroads out of millions of dollars to make a showing for a government owned express business, known as the Parcel Post.

Secretary Burleson had the audacity to claim that the postoffice department showed a profit of twenty million dollars on the first six months' business after the Parcel Post was established, but he forgot to mention the fact that this only represented a part of the loss sustained by the railroads who carried the stuff for nothing because of a contract which ignored both justice and common sense.

When our universities and law makers become so corrupt that conscience no longer recognizes right or justice, it is not surprising that legal confiscation of property becomes popular, and that a division of spoils is demanded. Socialism is too mild a term to apply to the nefarious doctrine.

The copper strike, which commanded so much attention for so many months, is finally settled and the twenty thousand men now at work in the largest force ever employed in the mines of northern Michigan.

Elbert Hubbard, of Roycroft fame, recently visited the Calumet mines and his experience among the miners, a mile below the surface, appears in the last number of the "Free" and is very interesting and instructive.

He also gives a complete history of the strike, and charges the responsibility where it belongs to the Western Federation of Miners. In closing his article he says:

"The sad part is that perhaps a thousand miners have held out, refusing to go to work, believing that finally the strikers would win, as their leaders had earnestly and zealously prophesied."

"And of course there is the 'bum element,' that would rather fight than eat, and that does not want to go to work. So long as strike benefits are paid, this lazy, lawless, drunken element will hold out and agitate. This is to be expected. But the thirty workers are all back at their jobs. The wives and children of many of these men have suffered severely."

No evictions have taken place, and the mine-owners and members of the Citizens' Alliance in many cases have helped and aided the striking miners and their families, even in the face of the battle for supremacy.

"When Spring comes, doubtless these striking miners will find work here; in fact, many of them now have been absorbed into the lumber camps. Some of them are fishing and many of them are farmers, and these certainly are not in a destitute condition."

"The strike is now ancient history. That is, it is all over but the distribution of the disgrace. I met Rickard, the leader of the local union, and he attributes the blame to the 'Reds.' By this he means the revolutionary Socialists. And the 'Reds' are not seeking to better the immediate condition of the laborer, but seek to overthrow the present civilization. The extreme measure of the 'Reds' resorted to, caused a revulsion of public opinion that made recognition of the Western Federation an impossibility."

"I once heard John Mitchell say, 'There never was a strike that failed.' By this he meant that even in defeat there is the germ of success that lives and which in time will bloom and blossom."

"The Law of Compensation never rests. This strife has taught both sides a few much needed, but costly, lessons."

"The whole Copper Country is cemented now by a bond that never existed before. Hate, jealousy, fear, these things have given way to respect, sympathy and a desire to get together."

"Wages have been increased, the eight-hour system has been adopted, petty bosses have had their ego sandpapered, bonus systems have been adopted, so that when a man does an extra amount of work he gets more pay. Pension plans have been put into operation."

"The Calumet and Hecla has a Grievance Bureau that considers and adjusts all causes for complaint, and everywhere employers and employees are joining hands."

"A vast amount of slander and accusation concerning things here have found their way into print. Hate has been in the saddle, and blindness anything but victory has been the rule."

"Just here I want to give four facts told me by Sheriff Cruise of Houghton County and corroborated by Governor Perris. First, there has not been a single eviction. Second, many striking miners have lived in company houses for five and six months without paying any rent. Third, a charity organization operated by women, backed up by mine-owners, has sought to relieve every case of want among the strikers' families. Fourth, all strikers have been taken back without prejudice, save those who had been guilty of assault and destruction of property."

The Calumet strike, like the Colorado strike, was a senseless thing and the muck-rake agitation, which so long cursed the country, is responsible for both of them. Capital is entitled to a breathing spell and Rockefeller was right in refusing to recognize the demands of the Western Federation of Miners.

JULY FOURTH WILL BE GALA OCCASION

TENTATIVE PLANS SUGGESTED FOR CELEBRATION MEET WITH APPROVAL.

COMMITTEE HAS PLANS

At Elk's Lodge Rooms Last Evening.—Several Committees Named. Half the Money, Needed Already Subscribed.

Janesville will celebrate the Fourth of July, this year, in a manner that bids fair to set a high water mark for all previous events of a similar nature ever attempted. At a meeting of a general committee of representatives of the Commercial club, the Retail Liquor Dealers' association and citizens held last evening at the Elk's lodge rooms tentative plans were discussed, two committees named and an adjournment taken until next Thursday evening when details will be worked out and passed upon by the celebration.

To Make Plans.—One of the committees named was composed of Edward Amerpohl, chairman, Amos Reber, William Lawyer, and F. E. Lane, known as the entertainment committee, and they will make a general plan for the celebration to be presented at the general meeting Thursday. One of the features proposed is a parade in the morning, which has been so successfully carried off in the past years. It has been suggested that this one feature would attract thousands of visitors owing to its popularity and success in former years. Foot races, a five mile marathon, finishing on the down town streets for boys over six, and under twenty-one has also been talked of, with a suitable purse hung up for the winner.

Plenty of Bands.—That there will be plenty of band music is certain. The best bands in the southern part of the state will be secured and there will be concerts morning, afternoon and evening. It is probable that there will be two parades, one a civic parade in the morning and the second the grand parade in the afternoon. There will also be free street attractions, doubtless ball games between good teams, speaking in the park, and possibly an automobile flower parade in the evening. It is going to be a big celebration although all plans have not yet been decided upon.

Many Present.—At the meeting last evening much enthusiasm was shown in the project. Many who were not able to be present themselves either telephoned their approval of the idea or promised their support in whatever was decided upon. Charles Pothman was named as temporary chairman and F. E. Lane was elected secretary. William Lawyer, representing the Retail Liquor Dealers' association, stated that he was authorized to state that the association would contribute one thousand dollars to the celebration, and possibly more. Joseph Connors was then elected as chairman of the finance committee and named a committee of twelve to aid in collecting the remainder of the money. This committee will be named the first of the coming week and be ready to make a report Thursday.

Draw From Illinois.—It is expected such a celebration as planned would draw heavily from Illinois and southern Wisconsin. It is planned to advertise the affair extensively throughout this section of the state and the northern part of Illinois and it is expected the interurban and railroads will aid materially in this work.

PROTEST OF HEIRS PROVES UNAVAILING

Judge Piffeld Decided Caroline Johnson Will Case In Favor of Beneficiary.

Protest of heirs of the late Caroline W. Johnson of Beloit that undue influence had been used by agents of St. Augustine's College of Rock Island, Illinois, to have her bequeath her entire estate of $10,000 to the institution, proved unavailing in the court today. Judge Piffeld admitted the case to probate. Judge Piffeld held that not sufficient evidence had been introduced to support the claims of the contestants in view of repeated assertions made by the deceased to friends and neighbors that she intended to leave her property to charity or for philanthropic purposes. Three pieces of Mrs. Johnson took the initiative in the effort to have the will set aside.

ADAMS SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS JEFFERSON AT COURTHOUSE PARK

Good twirling by Moore, slab artist for the Adams school nine, proved too great for the Jefferson nine, the Adams school, winning by a score of 17 to 17, in their game this morning at the courthouse park. Plenty of heavy hitting featured the school boys' game but the Adams twirler was able to hold the losers in check during the greater portion of the combat. The two teams will play again next Saturday.

SEE GOOD PROSPECT TO SECURE FACTORY OF UNUSUAL MERIT

REQUISITE AMOUNT OF FUNDS MUST BE RAISED AT ONCE TO MAKE IT SURE.

COMMITTEES AT WORK

Additional Solicitors Appointed at Meeting Friday Night to Aid in Vigorous Campaign.

With the opportunity presented of securing one of the best factory propositions which has come Janesville's way, the committee is now at work making judgment of men whose opinions count every effort is being put forward by a committee of citizens to raise the money needed to insure the plant for this city.

Effective action immediately was pressed upon the men who attended the meeting at the city hall last evening. A telegram which was received by the committee, a letter which has a little investigating on his own initiative tells the reason for closing the deal soon. In response to the query sent to an outside party the following answer was received:

"We consider the concern in question in its present condition first class due to the improvement made by the receiver who is one of the best mechanics in our part of the country. For your information there is a crowd here negotiating for the purchase of this plant now. If your friends will come in and see us we will be glad to give them the facts."

In the light of this information it appears that Janesville investors will have some sort of competition for the purchase of the concern, but in the opinion of H. L. McNamara, who is one of the Janesville committee who recently made a thorough investigation of the proposition, if Janesville can arrange to raise an offer within a day or so the plant will be secured.

At the meeting Friday night, Mr. McNamara explained some of the conditions which make this concern especially attractive. Owing to peculiar reasons it can be brought here at a bargain. The product, a lace which has been thoroughly acquainted with the management and manufacturing ends of the business who would be ready to take hold and rush the product to the front. The product, a lace which has an established place in the market, has been perfected so that it is ahead of similar articles now being manufactured.

He was further pointed out that the proposed factory would be owned entirely by Janesville capital as the outsiders interested would not ask for any stock until they had doubled the value of the plant. The plant, which is now entitled to a part of the stock dividend. In addition a certain other prominent manufacturer who has been considering moving his plant to Janesville, has been given the opportunity and promises his aid in furthering its success if Janesville capitalists decide to invest.

The local committee has already secured a substantial number of subscribers. It was thought advisable last night to double or triple the number of men to solicit funds and to press the campaign with vigor during the next two or three days. The committee has been given the commendation of H. L. McNamara, J. P. Cullen and G. G. Sutherland who made the personal investigation of the plant several weeks ago. It was thought expedient to have to assume prospective investors that every possible effort would be made to secure them and that no final step would be taken without thoroughly looking into any and all possible dangers. The committee has been given the best chance we have had to land a real live proposition," said M. P. Richardson, who was chairman of the meeting Friday evening. "We want action at once and I can see no reason for further delay. Here's what we want, and if we ever expect to get a new factory for Janesville this looks like the time."

It was decided to wire the person in charge of the concern, to find out if the original offer still held good and stating that further time was sought by the parties interested here. T. O. Howe, W. F. Palmer, offered several suggestions for facilitating the work of the subscriptions. The committee was augmented by a dozen or more names, and they were instructed to "get busy."

The plant has been employing some thirty skilled mechanics and tool makers, and with the location of the industry in Janesville and with the personal interest of one of the most prominent machine tool men in the country, who himself is bringing a large plant employing from eighty to ninety skilled mechanics, this city will be the location also of this latter plant in all probability within a year or two. This fact is of great interest in Janesville, has been here a number of times in the past year, has met a number of our citizens, and states that he will move his plant if we locate the small concern. For various reasons, however, names and locations cannot be made public through the columns of the paper at present, but full information is in the hands of the committees.

Insects Worth Protecting.

Among the common insects of the household are two which are friends of the housewife. If she realized this fact, she would protect them, instead of taking every opportunity to kill them. One of them is the spider, and the other is the so-called "centipede," or earwig. But the latter is neither an earwig (which is quite a different kind of creature), nor yet a centipede. It is a "myriapod," and has fifteen pairs of legs. Like the spider, it is voracious, attacking and devouring flies and other "undesirables."

Melancholy Days.

There are no melancholy days if we keep in tune with the bright and interesting things of life. The secret lies in being alive to what is going on about us. Don't miss the things that are worth while. This bit of philosophy applies to our advertisements. Don't let them go by unheeded. They may be the means of adding to the sum total of your happiness.

Her Absorbing Fear.

"You never got to banquets with your husband." "No, I'm always afraid that they will ask him to make a speech." "And can't he make one?" "That's it exactly. He can't. But if he were asked I just know he'd get up and try."—Detroit Free Press.

ELABORATE AFFAIR FOR FUTURE BRIDES

Four Young Ladies Entertained Last Evening for Misses Hazel Dewey and Ina Kemmerer.

Misses Estelita Nott, Mabel Munger, Helen Atkinson and Bess Carson entertained last evening at a dinner party given at the Tea Ball, South Main street, for Misses Hazel Dewey and Ina Kemmerer, who are soon to be brides. The table decorations were green and white and an effigy of Dan Cupid and a lighted wedding ring were suspended from above. An elaborate five course dinner was served.

After the repast the guests took Cupid's Grand Trunk Line to the home of Miss Nott, on Terrace street, where an interesting double mock wedding was presented amid exquisite surroundings. Miss Louise Bennett played the wedding march from Lohengrin for the bridal party, which advanced in real nuptial style to the canopy of yellow and white tulips and lilies. After the ceremony the prospective brides were taken on a honeymoon trip until they reached Glasgow station, where each found a beautiful cut glass gift in Cupid's trunk.

INTERURBANS SEEK PERMITS TO BUILD

Railway Commission Accepts Profiles and Maps and Continues Hearings.

According to dispatches from Madison there promises to be keen rivalry for certificates of convenience and necessity to build an interurban road between Janesville and Madison in the hearing before the railway commission on May 28.

A continuance to May 28 was granted yesterday to the Wisconsin Valley Railway company, and of the Janesville and Madison Traction company, upon their application to build an interurban railway between Janesville and Madison. At that time the railway commission will complete the hearing.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company also was represented by its district engineer, Charles Lapham, at the hearing.

The only result of the hearing yesterday was the submission by both companies of reports, profiles and maps.

EAGLES' PRODUCTION CLOSING ENGAGEMENT

Large Audience Well Pleased With Last Performance of "The Heir-ess" Given Friday Evening.

A well pleased audience witnessed the closing performance of "The Heir-ess," given under the auspices of the F. O. E. No. 724, at the Myers Theatre Friday evening. The attendance was large, considering that last night's production was the second offering to the Janesville public.

The musical numbers given by the leading characters were very pleasing, and comedy scenes won their share of the applause. The skilled work of Miss Beesie Wright, who produced the play, was shown in the chorus numbers and humorous scenes. The hit of the evening proved the dancing of Master Donald Flaherty and little Miss Lucille Craft, who were given bouquets almost as large as themselves. The effort of Miss Eleanor Breunling in singing "Sway" were well appreciated and the little miss won the encore of the audience by her clever dancing. All of the members of the older members of the cast were well given and the production deserves the title of being one of the best amateur productions offered to the public here for some time.

COUNCIL WILL SERVE NOTICE OF ELECTION

ADOPT RESOLUTION TO NOTIFY COMMISSION AND COMPANY OF PROPOSED PURCHASE.

HEARING WILL BE NEXT

Cut Pay of Election Officials Down to Four Dollars Because of Use of Voting Machines.

The city council at Friday's meeting adopted a resolution, offered by Councilman Cummings whereby notice is served on the state railroad commission and the Janesville Water Works company, who are to be notified of the proposed purchase of the Janesville water company's plant. The next step will be the notice of a hearing by the state commission for valuing the property. Besides the adoption of this resolution, the council canvassed the election returns and acted upon routine business.

The resolution complied by Councilman Cummings is as follows:

Whereas, The City of Janesville has determined to acquire the water plant of the Janesville Water Company, which said determination was made by the votes of a majority of the electors of the City of Janesville, at the special election held at a Special Election held in the said city on the 12th day of May, A. D. 1914, at which election the question of the purchase of such plant was duly submitted, and Whereas, The Janesville Water Company was at the time of said election and determination operating under an indeterminate permit under and in accordance with the provisions of the Public Utility law and has by reason of the acceptance of such permit consented to the taking over of such plant by the said City of Janesville.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the City Clerk be and he is hereby directed to give notice of such determination and of such consent to the Janesville Water Company and to the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, in pursuance with the provisions of Section 1797m-31 of the Revised Statutes of Wisconsin for 1913, and that the said notice be served by mailing a copy to the Janesville Water Company.

Resolution read and adopted on motion of Councilman R. M. Cummings this 15th day of May, 1914. Canvassing of the election inspectors' returns for the special election held May 12th on whether the city should purchase the plant of the Janesville Water Company by the council showed that 1091 votes, 392 no, leaving a majority of 739 votes as given in the Gazette. There were forty-six blanks due to careless voting with the machines. A resolution authorizing the paying of the election inspectors' and clerks' four dollars, instead of five, as at ballot elections, was passed and orders drawn on the city treasury. Owing to the use of the voting machines the work of the clerks and clerks was lessened materially, as they were through work a few moments after eight, the council maintained the amount named was sufficient.

The bonds of the Gazette Printing Company, one hundred dollars as surety for contract for printing and advertising for the ensuing year, were approved. George A. Roman was authorized to operate a second hand store on his application. His bonds, one dollar, were approved.

The board of public works was ordered to prepare a list or schedule of all property to be used for the use of the city, and the amount determined was ordered entered on the tax roll collectable as a special tax. The streets were as follows: South Jackson, between Rock and Western avenue; Academy, between Pleasant and Con-

Chatham, and North Bluff, from North First to the railroad track. Ford, Boos and School were granted permission by the council to erect a building adjoining the Hutchinson & Son establishment. The report showed that Mrs. Chief Klein refused to sanction the construction of the building owing to the use of the brick material for the walls, which is not in strict accordance with the city ordinance. The council decided the use of tile, while not mentioned in the city ordinance, was permissible.

The council granted permission to the rear of Lincoln school by shingling. The structure is owned by Mrs. Jennie Keller. L. Froelichson was granted permission to use a portion of East street for storing building material. The petition to oil South Jackson street between Rock and Galena streets was accepted and filed.

Some Oil Spouter. The mammoth gusher of the Pearson oil interests in the Potrero de Llano field, state of Vera Cruz, Mex., was recently allowed to perform for 30 minutes for officials of the Texas company and the Gulf Mining Refining company, according to the Mining and Scientific Press. The gate valve was opened for the first time since the well was brought under control, and a column of oil shot into the air to a height of 490 feet. The flow was estimated at 100,000 barrels daily. With the possible exception of the Dos Bocas gusher, which burned out, the Potrero is the greatest in the history of the oil industry.

His Last Word.

Here is one case where the husband had the last word and possibly scored a point. It was during a little spat. His wife had been talking for ten minutes without a letup and the end came only when she asserted vehemently, "There, I hope I've made myself plain!" "Made yourself plain, my dear!" he replied. "Why, bless your heart, I didn't know you had anything to do with it. I thought you were born that way."

HOLY GRAIL BROKEN; LEGENDARY VESSEL HAS BIBLE HISTORY

Raising Funds by International Subscription for Monument to Adelaide Ristori, the Actress.

Rome, Italy, May 15.—Both religious devotees and art lovers have learned with regret that the recent reports of the breaking of the "Holy Grail" beyond repair at the cathedral of Genoa are true, although satisfactory explanations of the accident are being sought. One expert who ascribed the breaking of the ancient basin to a fall from the cathedral is popularly suspected of shielding someone who accidentally broke the vessel. While it is doubtful that this basin really the sacred cup around which so much legendary romance of knightly days was woven, it has been accepted as such by a large number of Catholics.

History of Grail.
The vessel was brought to Genoa in 1113 by Guglielmo Embriaco, among the spoils of the conquest of Caesarea. Tradition then said, and has since been followed, that in this occasion, cut from what appeared to be a flawless emerald, Christ drank at the Last Supper, and later in it, the blood of Armageddon preserved the blood from Christ's wounds at the crucifixion.

Napoleon Bonaparte, "the great thief," as they call him here, carried it off to Paris in 1807, and it was kept in the Louvre. It was then that it had slight ornamentation and appeared to be finished with the tool as in gem engraving, while the color and transparency were perfect. When returned by Italy it was so badly stained that it was broken in the return and mended with gold filigree, once before it left the cathedral, in 1819, when it was given as security by the town of Genoa for money needed for military defense. Eight years passed before it was returned.

To Visit Villa.
The elder of the Pope's sisters, who is ill, is to try the air of Castelgandolfo, where the pontiff has a summer villa, which he has never seen. When Plus X made this disposition for his sister he remarked, "I wish I could come too," which, however, is not to be taken too literally, as he has become so fond of the Vatican that he probably would not leave it if he could.

The papal villa at Castelgandolfo was for years the favorite summer residence of numerous pontiffs, but has not been visited by a pope since 1893, when it was visited there. There is nothing magnificent about it, with the exception of the view, but the garden is beautiful and the air is salubrious. The most important room in the house is the bedroom of Plus IX, which is preserved just as it was when he was last there.

From the balconies of the villa the Pope's sister will look down on the beautiful lake of Albano, perched upon a hill, which is the monastery built by the last of the Stuarts, or, in the other direction, the cupola of St. Peter's, across the plain crowning the Eternal City.

Funds for Monument.
It has been decided that the monument to Adelaide Ristori, Italy's greatest actress, the funds for which were raised by international subscriptions, shall be unveiled at Cividale del Friuli either on August 30 or Sept. 6.

Adelaide Ristori's name may be remembered in the United States where she appeared with Booth during the season of 1854-55. Her last real appearance on the stage in New York was in "Marie Stuart," played at the Florsy theater with a German company.

She was called the most beautiful Italian woman of her time.

SEEK LOWER RENTS ON VIENNA HOUSES

Hardship Caused by Landlords Refusing to Rent Flats to Persons With Children.

Vienna, May 15.—The refusal of landlords in Vienna to rent flats to persons with children has become such an obstacle to families of the working classes that they are suffering real hardship in their quest for suitable living quarters. The condition of affairs has been presented to owners would permit children to live in them. While this particular action was shelved it is not improbable that something may be done in this direction. Since taxes on house property in Vienna amount to more than 42 per cent of the gross rental, any reduction would be extremely welcome.

Workers living in suburbs are found to be badly crowded, as many eight persons sometimes occupy a flat that consists of one small room and a kitchen.

Tobacco Monopoly.
Notwithstanding that the Austrian government's tobacco monopoly three years ago increased the retail price of cigars and cigarettes, the smoking habit appears to have its ground. According to the state a clear profit of many millions dollars a year. The tobacco monopoly's report for 1912, which has just been issued, shows a net profit, an increase of $2,000,000 over the preceding year.

Years had a great falling off, there being only 1,154,000,000 cigars smoked during 1912, a decrease of $2,000,000 as compared with the previous year, but the consumption of cigarettes reached the enormous total of 622,000,000.

Being Agreeable.

The true art of being agreeable is to appear well pleased with all the company, and rather to seem well entertained with them than to bring entertainment to them. A man thus disposed may have not much learning nor wit; but if he has common sense, and something friendly in his behavior, it conciliates men's minds more than the brightest parts within his disposition.—Addison.

A Great Truth.

Flats may be bad things, but houses in which the maidless housekeeper talks upstairs with a baby on one arm and a bucket of coal on the other are worse.

VESSEL PLUNDERED ON CHINESE COAST BY FIFTY PIRATES

Norwegian Steamship Robbed on High Seas, Pirate Passengers Capturing and Looting Ship.

Canton, China, May 15.—Ordinary acts of piracy, which occur frequently in the waters of the coast of China, were completely eclipsed recently when the Norwegian steamship Childar was plundered on the high seas.

It was held enough to recall to the western world the day of Captain Kidd, 200 years ago, and it was a rare case even for these waters. The number of foreign warships constantly cruising up and down the China coast and the fact that many of the merchant ships carry rifles and ammunition generally deter the Chinese from such acts of boldness, for they are given short shrift when caught. In the early days of the British settlement at Hongkong scores of pirate junks were captured and sunk; there are records of forty and fifty being sent to the bottom in a day.

The Childar was captured in a very simple way. About fifty pirates went aboard the ship at Hongkong as ordinary steerage or "deck" passengers, bound for places up the coast. There being altogether 200 Chinese making the journey, no notice was taken of them. They were evidently a little nervous over the surprise, and soon roused the suspicions of the board Chinese passengers by their restlessness and earnest conversation in little groups, feeling that they were being watched they put their plans into execution sooner, evidently than they had intended, but with complete success.

About forty miles out of Hongkong they whipped out their revolvers and rushed the officers and none of them were armed or within the reach of weapons. The second officer, who was on the bridge, tried to give the alarm to the others below, but was promptly laid senseless with the butt of a pistol.

On their arms, so that they should know one another, the pirates wore white Chinese revolutionists' caps years ago. There were characters on the bands, the translation of which is said to be "money comes easy."

Four of the officers were tightly bound and placed in the auxiliary wheelhouse at the stern of the ship, while the second and third engineers were left free to work the engines under the direction of the pirates. Pirate navigators assumed control of the bridge and gave the proper signals to the engine room. A very careful course through dangerous shoals were steered until the ship put into a little bay known as Bias Bay. There, two junks, which had evidently been awaiting the arrival of the Childar, received the collected money and valuables which had been taken from the ship, the officers, and the passengers. Even the uniforms of the officers and the good clothes of the Chinese passengers were taken, and almost all the brass fittings of the ship. In all, the ship lost over $10,000, in cargo, valuables, and damages.

The pirates were, no doubt, much disappointed, for on two previous voyages the Childar had carried about $100,000 worth of treasures of one sort and another, valuables that were negotiable ashore without serious danger of discovery. The pirates seemed to be angered by their failure to make the big haul they expected, for, after looting the ship and passengers, they went through the cabins and engine rooms destroying wilfully doors, fittings, and furniture.

CROWN PRINCE BECOMES AN EXPERT SKI JUMPER UNDER SKILLED TEACHER

Christiania, May 15.—The little Crown Prince Olav, like every Norwegian boy, is striving to become the champion ski jumper of the world. He was given his first skis at the age of three years and during the past winter, at the age of eleven, he has been jumping from forty to fifty feet. He is as clever as any boy of his age at the sport and is so enthusiastic about it that he attends all the big contests.

When King Haakon and Queen Maud came to Norway in 1905 they knew nothing about winter sports, but before their first winter was over the royal pair became fascinated with skiing and, under the tutelage of Captain Roll, the King's aid, who is one of the most expert ski runners in Norway, they became so proficient that they could compete with any native born of their age.

In the winter the royal family live for several weeks in a small house near the scene of the world's greatest skiid relay. This house, which was a gift from the people, is built in the Norwegian peasant style and is furnished in true sportsman fashion. Neither the King or Queen care much for royal ceremony and etiquette, so their vacation days at the ski grounds constitute the most enjoyable season of their year.

They found particular pleasure recently in entertaining the Prince of Wales, their nephew, who tried skiing for the first time. The Prince took to the Norwegian sports so readily that during the last day of his visit he made a trip to the high mountains and glaciers, a feat that is not considered lightly even by experienced mountain climbers. When he left for home he expressed the intention of coming back next winter, if possible.

Transferring Box Kites.

The United States experts use box kites in many meteorological experiments, but have hitherto found difficulty in transporting them across the country from one station to another by reason of their shape and size. A novel type has been devised which, by cutting a few strings and loosening four bolts, permits the kite to be knocked down into flat, compact form, very much like a collapsible box or carton.

Force of Horse's Kick.

The remarkable force of a horse's kick was demonstrated the other day at a training establishment at Kingsclere, near Southampton. The shoe of a thoroughbred flew off and was hurled over the top of the opposite stable, some distance away, at a height of nearly thirty feet, and landed on the glass roof of a greenhouse beyond.

THREE NATIONS MAY FORM AN ALLIANCE FOR RUSSIAN PERIL

Scandinavian Countries May Unite For Common Defense Against Russia—Have Municipal Lottery.

Copenhagen, May 15.—The possibility of a defensive alliance between Norway, Sweden and Denmark is occupying the serious attention of statesmen in all three of these Scandinavian countries.

Up to a few months ago such a combination was considered out of the question because of the friction between Norway and Sweden, whose union was dissolved in 1905. If Sweden joins such an alliance it will be because of the so-called Russian peril. On most questions since the dissolution of the union with Norway, Sweden has not been on very cordial terms with the other Scandinavian countries and it will take some great common danger to bring her into closer relations with her immediate neighbors.

The feeling that such an alliance will come is very strong in Norway. One of its strongest proponents is the arctic explorer, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, who believes that the understanding will come as soon as the necessity for it grows a little stronger. With Norway and Sweden seeking such an alliance it is certain that Denmark would make no objection to joining.

Municipal Lottery.
Every ride on a street car in Copenhagen is now accompanied by an irresistible temptation to participate in a municipal lottery. The litter of used tickets which passengers throw into the streets was such a serious annoyance that the city decided to make the tickets valuable as lottery coupons. Automatic machines have been placed at the various trolley stations, and when the passenger steps from his car he may convert his used ticket into a lottery coupon by inserting an ore, (about the equivalent of half a cent.) The machine stamps the ticket with its number in the drawing. Every month goods of local manufacture are given as premiums in this lottery.

"Movie" Farming.
Denmark's ideal methods of agriculture will be exhibited in Russia by motion pictures. A Russian count, official, Leonidas V. Plankhoff, will tour the agricultural districts of Russia, showing the pictures and explaining the methods which have made Danish farming the standard of Europe.

Six articles used by gardeners. Two articles of apparel. One bird. One animal, and one plant.

The Idea.
A certain woman assured her husband she never told him a lie, and never would. He told her he did not doubt it, but would hereafter cut a notch in the piano when he knew she deceived him. "No, you won't!" she screamed. "I'm not going to have my piano ruined!"

Rony's Longing for Home.
Three years ago a woman farmer in Wales sold a pony to her son, who resides some twenty-five miles away between Rhuddlan and Rhyll. The pony has for the third time found its way back to its former home, managing to unlatch two gates in order to do so.

USE LIKE COLD CREAM TO STOP ITCHING

Any breaking out or irritation on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur cream, says a noted dermatologist.

He informs us that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. PUTTING THINGS INTO WRITING.
THE jury of eminent artists and critics which decides what pictures shall be bought by the art galleries of France is required to put its reasons for buying each picture into writing.

Don't you think that's a very wise requirement? I do. Not only because it makes it plain to the French people why each picture deserves to be bought, but also because it makes plain to the jury itself why each picture deserves to be bought, and renders them less likely to make a mistake.

Nothing in the world clears the mind on a subject like putting one's thoughts into writing. When we think upon any matter we usually slur over a good many points, especially those points on which we are at all confused or which for any reason we do not like to consider.

If we put a thing into writing we cannot slur. The dim neutral grays in which we shrouded confused or unpleasant details must needs vanish when we set the thing down in black and white.

Did you ever try this method when you had some important decision to make? I have, and I find it invaluable.

Suppose, for instance, you are thinking of buying or renting a house and you can't make up your mind between two desirable candidates. You like some things about one house and some things about the other.

Then of course there are certain objections to both. When you try to think the thing over you soon find yourself between all the advantages and disadvantages, in a morass of confusion.

The beautiful, big living room in the first house appeals to you greatly, and then the court. The first is near to the station, but the second has a lovely garden and a place for a tennis outlook. The first has open plumbing, but the second has open fireplaces, so your mind is pulled this way and that by each new consideration which pop into it.

Now take a piece of paper and write down on one side of a line the advantages of one house and on the other side the advantages of the other. Do the same with the disadvantages.

Now compare them. If you wish to, you can cancel advantages and disadvantages which you think are equal and see to which side the balance tips. In any case you have the thing in black and white and can get a much better idea of it.

To many people I suppose this idea will seem fantastical. To my mind it is a great deal less fantastical than trying to decide an important question without marshalling all the pros and cons clearly before you. Of course there are a few people with such clear, logical minds that they can do this in their minds just as well, but I'm free to confess that I'm not one of them.

spread each layer with halved straw berries, sprinkle with sugar and pile on a cream. Serve with an abundance of cream.

THE KITCHEN SHEARS.
A good dinner sharpens wit while it softens the heart.—Doran.

THE KITCHEN SHEARS.
A pair of scissors or shears is the greatest convenience imaginable in the kitchen. They will cut up much quicker than a knife, vegetables, such as celery, lettuce, beans and any number of other things.

To hollow out a tomato to be stuffed a pair of shears is much better to use than a knife, for it may be done much more evenly.

The cutting of a grapefruit to prepare it for the table may be done entirely by the use of shears.

First cut out the center pulp, then clip the sections along the edge and the grapefruit is ready.

When dicing green peppers cut them in long slivers, then take a few in the hand and clip through the entire bunch. When preparing fruit for salads the sections of orange and grapefruit may be easily cut away with the shears.

The more often the shears are used the more ways will occur to use them. We need not limit scissors to fruit and vegetables, however, as they work equally as well on chicken, fish of various kinds, cutting the joints of game and lobster shells.

The hard parts of oysters and clams are neatly removed by a pair of shears, while slices of cold boiled tongue and ham are often much improved by trimming with scissors.

Cabbage Salad.—Shred cabbage very fine and mix with one or more finely cut green peppers and a small bunch of celery, finely chopped. Add a boiled dressing made as follows: Cook together equal parts of egg and mild vinegar. When smooth and thick add equal parts of whipped cream, sugar, and a bit of cayenne pepper, a little mustard, if liked, and a seasoning of salt. This dressing may be kept indefinitely and the cream and seasoning are added just as it is ready to use.

Canned Beans.—For a change of vegetables, use the little tender green beans. Scald them and season with butter and a little vinegar, pepper and salt. Taste them to see that there is butter and vinegar enough to season well, and serve very hot.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please state again how to make salt beads? I saw the recipe once, but did not think I would ever want to use it until last week I saw a string of them and they were so pretty.

Salt Beads.—Heat water over one cup fine table salt. Dissolve one-half cup cornstarch in one-half cup water and with this mix any coloring matter you wish. Add to the hot salt and knead with the hands into a smooth dough. Wrap the dough in a damp cloth and pinch off bits to roll into beads. They shrink in drying, so make the beads a little larger than you want them to be when dry. String beads on a fine wire or hairpin and leave several days to dry. Turn beads occasionally to prevent them sticking. To polish, rub beads with a cloth which has been dipped in sweet oil.

You should be able to get gilt, glass or any kind of beads at a department store.

HOUSEKEEPER.
I presume you mean feathers and down for pillows, etc. Select a windy day for washing them. Put the feathers into a white bag and tie up one end securely. Make a sud (warm, not hot) of a good white soap and add some ammonia. Soave your bag of feathers in this until you feel sure they are clean. Rinse in clear water containing a little ammonia. Then again in clear cold water. Squeeze out water, then hang bag in the wind in a shady place, to dry. Shake the bag every little while vigorously.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me what will take paint when they get so far developed that turn brown and fall off. The leaves are of one shade of green and there are spots on them which are of a darker color of green. What can we do for it so that it will bloom?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me what will take paint

Women Worth While

Mrs. Ben Johnson.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)
Most certainly. And like other enthusiasts, I am not one bit timid about proclaiming it.

Anybody who saw Mrs. Ben Johnson at the moment would have known she had a real story to tell. The mere mention of the word hobby, and the quiet, soft-spoken little wife of Representative Ben Johnson of Bardstown, Kentucky, had leaped forward in her chair, eyes shining with interest, face aglow with enthusiasm.

"Who invented the steamboat?" she asked.

"Robert Fulton," answered her interviewer, self-righteously, with an "Aha-you-can't-catch-me," infection.

"That's where you are wrong," promptly said Mrs. Johnson. "Now my mission in life is to prove you are wrong, which I can do. John Fitch, who died in Bardstown, Kentucky, in 1798, was the inventor of the steamboat. I have spent years searching among the dusty, age-worn records of our courthouse at Bardstown for facts with which to substantiate this claim for him. I have found these proofs. They are in the courthouse at Bardstown. There are also papers in the congressional library at Washington which establish beyond a doubt Fitch's right to the honor which for a century has been accorded to Fulton.

"Poor Fitch! He was something of a ne'er-do-well, a genius often are. He left his home in Windsor, Connecticut, in order to escape domestic responsibilities and troubles. In his will, the original of which is in Bardstown, he expresses sentiments something like this: 'God pity the man possessed of a troublesome wife and a steamboat invention! I rid myself of the former. I regret that I did not also rid myself of the latter.'

"Fitch's dream and years the idea of a boat propelled by steam burned in Fitch's brain. He served with zeal in the Continental army during the revolution and was with Washington at Valley Forge. After that he led a wildly adventurous life in what was those days known as the west, the region just beyond the Ohio river. During these strenuous times, however, he remained faithful to the great ideal of his life, the invention of the steamboat. After years of little effort and discouragements, he succeeded in making a boat with a twelve-inch cylinder. This boat made a successful trial trip on the Delaware river in 1787. In 1788 a larger boat constructed by Fitch made a speed of eight miles an hour.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

To make corks impervious to water and air soak them in olive oil for five minutes.

Accrust of dry bread thrown into the pot where cabbage is cooking will absorb the odor and keep it from permeating the house.

The great thing for roaches is to keep the place absolutely dry. Make a paste of flour, borax and eucalyptus oil and scatter about their haunts. They will eat it and never trouble you again.

THE TABLE.

Beef a la Carcas.—Two ounces smoked dried beef, one cup of tomatoes, one-fourth cup grated cheese, a few drops of onion juice, a tiny pinch of cinnamon and cayenne—just a suggestion of each—three eggs, well beaten. Pick over the beef and chop fine. Add tomatoes, cheese, onion juice and spice. Melt butter, add mixture and when heated add eggs. Cook until eggs are of creamy consistency, stirring and scraping from bottom of pan. Serve hot on toast.

Apple Salad.—Pare medium sized apples and scoop out the center, making a cup. Allow one to each portion and keep covered with cold water until ready to fill—this will prevent them turning dark. Cut beads (left from dinner into dice—there should be one cupful—add to this any cauliflower that may have been left from dinner, one-half cup of diced celery and one-half cup of ground peanuts. Moisten with mayonnaise or boiled dressing, fill apple shells, arrange on lettuce leaves and serve.

Bacon Toast.—Fry bacon until crisp, lay on slices of toast and cover with a gravy, made in the skillet after most of the fat has been poured off.

Cold Strawberry Shortcake.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter with a cup of powdered sugar. Beat three eggs light, add to them a quarter of a cup of cream and stir into the creamed butter and sugar. Beat long and hard before adding a cupful of flour sifted twice with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Grease three jelly cake tins, half full with the batter and bake in a quick oven. When cold remove the cakes from the tins.

Rear Admiral Winslow

The Bristling Big Guns

BUCK WASH, D.C.
FROM UNDERWOOD

The Dreadnought New York, Recently Put In Commission and Sent To Take Her Place Among the Great Fighting Craft Concentrated About Mexico, Stands Preeminent Among the World's Floating Engines of Death.

IN time of war all thoughts are concentrated upon the Navy. No matter how elaborate are the plans for mobilizing, transporting and the placing of the various army brigades, the thoughts of every live, red-blooded American turn to the Navy and the paramount question is the relative fighting strength of this country and that of the enemy.

In the present imbroglio in Mexico one detachment of either the Atlantic or Pacific fleet could blow the united navy of Mexico out of the water, yet we now have concentrated there one of the most powerful fleets ever mobilized by this or any other Power.

No better illustration of the patriotism of and the interest manifested in the Navy by Americans is needed than the lively interest manifested in the preparations for the departure of the super-dreadnought New York from the Brooklyn Navy Yard in the latter part of April. This formidable looking monster then set forth on her maiden voyage and never did a warship leave port amid more inspiring auspices.

The last finishing touches on this Government built warship had just been added and only twenty-four hours before her embarkation Rear Admiral Winslow had come on from the Naval Training Station at Newport to hoist his flag and assume command of this ship.

Only twenty thousand persons were on hand to see the great ship put to sea for her overnight race to Newport, where she was to take aboard certain guns, torpedoes and other ordnance to bring her fighting power up to the prescribed standard. With her gay pennants and flags flaunting in the breeze, and the ship's band blaring forth its lively and inspiring melodies, the big ship's full detachment of bluejackets and marines drawn up on the main deck and standing as rigid as statues, the New York slowly made her way out into the upper bay and pointing her nose seaward headed her way down stream and the first leg of the race to Mexico was on.

Her Popular Commander.

The Navy boasts of no more popular commander than Rear Admiral Winslow. It is generally believed that in the event of the troubles with Mexico making it necessary to keep our fleet in Southern waters throughout the summer that he will succeed Rear Admiral Badger in command of the Atlantic Fleet some time in August. In any event Admiral Winslow is in charge of the "Special Squadron," the last to leave for Mexico, and in this detachment are some of the fastest and most formidable ships of our fighting forces.

The New York was built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard under the supervision of Naval Constructor John Elliot Daily, a comparatively young but extremely talented graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Her total cost was $12,500,000 and she looks it. Constructed throughout of Midvale steel, her engines are capable of generating 28,000 horsepower. Every device known to naval mechanics has been installed, and every labor-saving device employed in shipbuilding is here to be found.

Every movement of this giantess is controlled by electricity and her electrical plant is as ample and complete as one could find in the most modern and up-to-date factory plant in the country. Her bunkers are built to carry 2,860 tons of coal and besides this tanks have been constructed with a capacity for 124 tons of fuel oil. She was constructed to develop a speed of twenty-one knots and her builders say she will easily beat this as soon as her engines get limbered up. Below decks she is a little city in herself for here can be found carpenter, tailor and butcher shops, a chemist, bank, bakery, store rooms and kitchens, all equipped with the very latest paraphernalia.

When recruited to her full strength the New York boasts of a population slightly in excess of 1,100 souls, this including her sixty-five commissioned officers, ward officers, blue jackets, and the men required to stoke and oil the ship. Aside from this complement there is room for a battalion of marines which were taken on at Brooklyn and Norfolk already in Mexican waters.

Her Guns Unparalleled.

The fighting strength of the New York is second to no battleship in the world. She carries ten 14-inch and twenty-one 6-inch guns, while her batteries and five turrets fairly bristle with guns and rifles of the latest and most approved types, all equipped with telescope sights and mechanically controlled. The New York has a displacement of 27,000 tons. She is 565 feet long, 95 feet 3 inches beam with a 23 1-2 foot draft.

No sooner had the big New York completed a brief call at Newport and Norfolk than she pointed southward and then began a race to the tropics. Her engines turned over at record speed and as she headed it down the coast those in command of her were loud in their praise of her general seaworthiness. She runs as smoothly as a clock and is as fleet as a greyhound.

As the Carolina coast was reached life aboard ship underwent a decided change. Sombre blue uniforms of officers and men gave way to immaculate white duck. The officers spent a little time in ward room and lounge as possible, all idle moments being spent beneath sheltering canopies on deck. In the evening concerts by the ship's band helped to while away the tedium of close confinement and all sailors off duty congregated on the lower decks to enjoy the concert. This over an immense screen was erected and film pictures projected on the canopy which thrilled Jackie until the ship's bell announced the hour for the sounding of taps when lights are extinguished and the ship given over to sleep and quiet for those not held on duty.

As the monster ploughed her way through southern seas her conduct was admirable, drawing forth encomiums from all interested in her progress. Day and night the wireless station aboard was a center of interest and hourly bulletins were posted apprising those on board of the progress of our negotiations with the sister republic. These radiograms fairly choked the atmosphere and at all times those speeding southward were in close touch with affairs in Mexico and Washington as well.

Busy Times For All.

But there were few hours for recreation in the course of this voyage. Few believed that the offers of mediation by the "A. B. C." powers would avail, and that ultimately serious work would have to be done. Drills of all sorts were in progress. Boarding and landing drills were gone over time and again. Little batteries were drawn forth from their resting places, set up and operated, taken apart and again set up until seemingly there was no detail connected with this work that the men were not letter perfect in. Sailors and marines all had their respective parts to play and their commanding officers were tireless in their efforts to perfect them in every detail of the work ahead. Officers poured over their manuals, brushing up on tactics and all pertaining to modern warfare from a naval viewpoint and war was the one topic uppermost in their thoughts.

The recent order of the Secretary of the Navy for the holding of classes for the enlisted men were resumed as the New York sped southward and aside from his many other duties Jackie had to go to school. The curriculum is similar to that in any well regulated grammar school and while some of the sailors take kindly to the chance to improve their minds others bitterly resent this infringement upon their play time. They are given elementary instruction and the officers detailed as instructors are painstaking and patient, but they know the temper of the sailor man and realize that to the rank and file of the ship these added duties are bitterly resented.

Perhaps the busiest man aboard the flagship of any fleet is the Athletic Director attached to the Rear Admiral's staff. His duty it is to see that Jack is kept in good physical trim and that his athletic bent is given full scope. Basketball, baseball and football teams are organized, fencing, wrestling and boxing matches arranged and everything possible done to keep the sailor man in fine fettle and good trim. Many fine athletes are developed in this way, and it is surprising how strong is the rivalry that runs through the fleet. The champion of the New York is always eager to match his skill and brawn against the champion of some other ship and the athletic director sees to it that the opportunity is forthcoming.

The New York will soon be joined by her sister ship, the Texas, now building at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. She is nearly ready for sea and is in every way an exact duplicate of the New York. Almost as much interest is being manifested in her progress as there was in the New York and no doubt when she steams forth from her berth to take her place in the fleet the same ovation that was given the New York will be accorded her.

This is the Navy's day and despite the fact that General Funston supplanted Admiral Badger in command at Vera Cruz, all eyes are centered on the Navy, for this is the arm of the service that more strongly appeals to the masses.

On The Spur of The Moment

The Regular Army Man.
Who is the guy that is on the job,
Ready to start in raising hob
With an indolent foreign lobby?
The regular army man.

Who to the perilous fray doth fare,
With a way that is reckless and bare,
And a valiant and valiant
The regular army man.

Who goes to war as he goes to day,
And handles his rifle in manner gay,
And hits a ten-cent piece a mile away.
The regular army man.

Who's fought for his country around the world,
Wherever the old flag has been underd,
And truly daredevil defiance hurled.
The regular army man.

tion of "coming back" and running ring of the past few weeks, the old

The Republican papers are speaking very well of Champ Clark these days.

It Pays to Know How.
A young married man was talking to an old married man yesterday and was complaining that he could not get his wife to mend his clothes.

"I asked her to sew a button on my vest last night and she hasn't touched it." And then his older married friend remarked: "Never ask a woman to mend anything. When I want a shirt mended I take it to my wife and flourish it around a little and say, 'Where is that rag bag?'
Then my wife says, 'What do you want of the rag bag?' 'I want to throw this shirt away, it's worn out,' let me see that shirt," my friend said. Of course I was it over and she examines it. 'Why, it only needs—' and she mends it."

The Song of the Navy.
(Anecdotes by Gilbert and Sullivan)
We sail the ocean blue,
And out saucy ships a beauty;
We are SOBER men and true
And attentive to our duty.

We have sailed for Mexico,
And we're in our fighting shoes
For any kind of a scrap
Except to fight the booze.

We are sober men and true,
On our conduct we are brazen;
For we've stuffed the demon Rum
And we're on the water wagon,
Yes, deacon the dratted lunk,
We are on the water wagon.

Uncle Abner.
Nothing will cheer up a homely man more than to tell him he has character in his face.

There is nobody luckier than the feller who never had a hankering to go into politics.
Everything has a use in this world.
A wart on the end of a man's nose keeps his spectacles from slipping off.

There are other signs of aristocracy just as potent as wearing white shoes and pegtop trousers.
Every feller who goes away and makes good, surprises the homefolks. Every man can make a profit excepting in his own country.

If the vice president would only look after the vice, he would have plenty to do in this country.

Times are certainly changing.
Back in the sixties men used to wear red flannel shirts and woolen socks all summer.

CHANGING MEXICO'S MAP.

A great deal of talk is heard these days about changing the map of Mexico. It is doubtful if the public at large has the slightest desire to forcibly tamper with an inch of territory belonging to Mexico or any other country.

But in a bigger and better sense
Uncle Sam is getting ready right now to make over Mexico so that she will not know herself fifty years from now.
Moreover, the earnest old gentleman with the out of date goatee and the Stars and Stripes costume has been at the job for ten years.

And, besides this feverish activity of a decade, Uncle Sam has eaten up fifty miles of dirt, taken two oceans by the necks and knocked their heads together, and crowned the whole performance by spending $375,000,000.

For it is the Panama Canal that is to change the map of Mexico, just as it will transform Central and South America, double the productivity of our own country, and bring into being international trade routes that lived before only in the imagination of men.

"The Panama Canal" by Frederic J.
Haskin, is a book of 400 pages that will tell everything worth knowing about the canal. Find out for yourself, for the astonishingly low price of fifty cents, how the canal was built, who did it, and what its effect on history will be. Save the coupons in this issue and get a truly great book that tells of a truly great triumph.

Busy Hands Find Little Time For Mischief

"I wish son could enter the corn contest, his heart seems set on it; but as one must have an acre of ground planted, that bars him."

"That is a barrier you can remove, if you think it worth while to," said the second Mother in this little dialogue.

"I do not quite understand."

"Well, of course it will cost you something, but as an investment it might be money wisely spent. Advertise for an acre of ground from some farmer living on the outskirts of your home town. Have your boy try his ability as a corn grower there. If he does not win the prize, he will have his trip to Madison, and the corn to dispose of. Ten to one you will break even on the financial end of it. At any rate your son will be kept busy along the right lines."

"That is a new light on the case. I will talk it over with the boy's father; he is anxious to have him actively engaged in some light work. The streets are not the best place in the world for a growing boy. You think we would be able to get the land by advertising?"

"I know from experience the strength of the want ad page, I predict success."

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."

—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."

—Mrs. ADA WILT, 106 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Whisky Poison Killed By Neal Treatment

Modern medical science teaches—your knowledge of the many "wrecks" of formerly good men and the bitter experience of mankind proves that alcohol is always retained in the system of the person who indulges constantly or at times excessively, and very frequently from very "moderate" or only occasional indulgence by high-class men and women of sedentary habits who are most susceptible to the poison of alcohol.

Some of the symptoms and effects of Alcoholic poisoning are desire, appetite, and craving for liquor, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, restlessness, headaches, heart, stomach, liver, kidney and other serious disorders and ailments.

Not only is elimination the only cure for these serious "whisky disorders," but the diseased man will not and cannot quit drinking so long as this virulent poison remains in his system demanding more and more "fuel for the fire" until outraged nature rebels and demands the penalty—insanity or untimely death.

The Neal Treatment acts as an antidote for the poison of Alcohol, neutralizes its effects upon the functions and tissues of the body and eliminates it from the system—it removes the cause so easily, quickly and effectively that in from three to seven days the normal man returns to his health and usual work with a loathing instead of a craving for liquor—perfectly cured.

The Neal Treatment appeals to and is patronized by high-class men and women who seek its benefits the same as they seek medical help for other serious human ailments. It may be taken at any one of the sixty splendid Neal Institutes established in principal cities. Treatment at home, hotel or club in "moderate" cases will be arranged for upon application.

THE PLACE OF HONEY- MOONS HAROLD MAC GRATH Pictures C.D. RHODE

Herr Rosen instantly usurped the chair next to Nora, who began to pour the tea. He had come up from the village prepared for a disagreeable half hour. Instead of being greeted with icy glances from stormy eyes, he encountered such smiles as this adorable creature had never before bestowed upon him. He was in the clouds. That night at Cadenabbia had apparently knocked the bottom out of his dream. Women were riddles which only they themselves could solve for others. For this one woman he was perfectly ready to throw everything aside. A man lived but once; and he was a fool who would hold to himself in preference to such happiness as he thought he saw opening out before him. Nora saw, but she did not care. That in order to reach another she was practicing infinite cruelty on this man (whose one fault lay in that he loved her) did not appeal to her pity. But her arrow flew wide of the target; at least, there appeared no result to her archery in malice. Not once had the intended victim looked over to where she sat. And yet she knew that he must be watching; he could not possibly avoid it, and he human. And when he finally came forward to take his cup, she leaned toward Herr Rosen.

"You take two lumps?" she asked sweetly. It was only a chance shot, but she hit on the truth.

"And you remember?" excitedly.

"One lump for mine, please," said Courtlandt, smiling.

She picked up a cube of sugar and dropped it into his cup. She had the air of one wishing it were poison. The recipient of this good will, with perfect understanding, returned to the divan, where the padre and Harrigan were gravely toasting each other with benediction.

Nora made no mistake with either Abbott's cup or the Barone's; but the two men were filled with but one desire, to throw Herr Rosen out of the window. What had begun as a beautiful day was now becoming black and uncertain.

The Barone could control every feature save his eyes, and these openly admitted deep anger. He recollected Herr Rosen well enough. The encounter over at Cadenabbia was, not to say, a disaster.

The first by many, Herr Rosen! His presence in this room under that name was an insult, and he intended to call the interloper to account the very first opportunity he found.

Perhaps Celeste, sitting as quiet as a mouse upon the piano stool, was the only one who saw these strange currents drifting dangerously about. That her own heart ached miserably did not prevent her from observing things with all her usual keenness. Ah, Nora, Nora, who have everything to give and yet give nothing, why do you play so heartless a game? Why hurt those who can no more help loving you than the earth can help whirling around the calm dispassionate sun? Always they turn to you, while I, who have so much to give, am given nothing! She set down her tea cup and began the aria from La Boheme.

Nora, without relaxing the false smile, suddenly found emptiness in everything.

"Sing!" said Herr Rosen.

"I am too tired. Some other time."

He did not press her. Instead, he whispered in his own tongue: "You are the most adorable woman in the world!"

And Nora turned upon him a pair of eyes blank with astonishment. It was as though she had been asleep and he had rudely awakened her. His infatuation blinded him to the truth; he saw in the look a feminine desire to throw the others off the track as to the sentiment expressed in his whispered words.

The hour passed tolerably well. Herr Rosen then observed the time, rose and excused himself. He took the steps leading abruptly down the terrace to the carriage road. He had come by the other way, the rambling stone stairs which began at the porter's lodge, back of the villa.

"Padre," whispered Courtlandt, "I am going. Do not follow. I shall explain to you when we meet again."

The padre signified that he understood. Harrigan protested vigorously, but smiling and shaking his head, Courtlandt went away.

Nora ran to the window. She could see Herr Rosen striding along, down the winding road, his head in the air. Presently, from behind a cluster of mulberries, the figure of another man came into view. He was going at a dog-trot, his hat set at an angle that permitted the rain to beat squarely into his face. The next turn in the road shut them both from sight. But Nora did not stir.

Herr Rosen stopped and turned.

"You called?"

"Yes," Courtlandt had caught up with him just as Herr Rosen was about to open the gates. "Just a moment. Herr Rosen," with a hand upon the bars. "I shall not detain you long."

There was studied insolence in the tones and the gestures which accompanied them.

"Wait! I am stronger than you are. Do not make me force you to hear me to the end. You have gone about this intrigue like a blackguard, and that I know Your Highness not to be. The matter is, you are young, you have always had your way, you have not learnt restraint. Your presence here is an insult to Miss Harrigan, and if she was pleasant to you this afternoon it was for my benefit. If you do not go, I shall expose you."

Courtlandt opened the gate.

"And if I refuse?"

"Why, in that case, being the American that I am, without any particular reverence for royalty or nobility, as it is known, I promise to thrash you soundly tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, in the dining-room, in the bureau, the drawing room, wherever I may happen to find you."

Courtlandt turned on his heel and hurried back to the villa. He did not look over his shoulder. If he had, he might have felt pity for the young man who leaned heavily against the gate, his burning face pressed upon his rain-soaked sleeve.

When Courtlandt knocked at the door and was admitted, he apologized. "I came back for my umbrella."

"Umbrella!" exclaimed the padre. "Why, we had no umbrellas. We came up in a carriage which is probably waiting for us this very minute by the porter's lodge."

"Well, I am certainly absent-minded!"

"Absent-minded!" scoffed Abbott. "You never forget anything in all your life, unless it was to go to bed. You wanted an excuse to come back."

"Any excuse would be a good one in that case. I think we'd better be going, Padre. And by the way, Herr Rosen begged me to present his regards. He is leaving Bellaggio in the morning."

Nora turned her face once more to the window.

CHAPTER XII.

The Ball at the Villa.

"It is all very pretty, my child," said the padre. "Life is made up of bigger things; the little ones should be ignored."

"He had the insufferable insolence to order Herr Rosen to leave," going around the barrier of his well-ordered logic.

"Ah! Now, how could he send away Herr Rosen if that gentleman had really preferred to stay?"

Nora looked confused.

"Shall I tell you? I suspected; so I questioned him last night. Had I been in his place, I should have chastised Herr Rosen instead of bidding him be gone. It was he."

"Positively. The men who guarded you were two actors from one of the theaters. He did not come to Versailles because he was being watched. He was found and sent home the night before your release."

"I'm sorry. But it was so like him. The padre spread his hands. "What a way women have of modifying either good or bad impulses! It would have been fine of you to have stopped when you said you were sorry."

"Padre, one would believe that you had taken up his defense!"

"If I had I should have to leave it after today. I return to Rome tomorrow and shall not see you again before you go to America. I have bidden good-bye to all save you. My child, my last admonition is, be patient; observe; guard against that impulse born in your blood to move hastily, to form opinions without solid foundations. Be happy while you are young, for old age is happy only in that reflected happiness of recollection. Write to me, here. I return in November. Benedicite!" smiling.

Nora bowed her head and he put a hand upon it.

"Say, did you ever know a woman to buy what she wanted at the first store she came to?" Yes. My wife frequently does—that is, she returns to it after she's been to all the other stores."

Transferable Distinction. Markley (to pestering insurance man)—"Look here, when you talked to me last year, you told me that the company you were with was the best in the world." Agent—"My dear sir, it was at that time, but the company I am now with, having since had the benefit of my services, has, of course, taken the honor away from it."

Peculiar Place for Cash. An astounding incident happened at Portland, Eng., lately, when the chef of a big club cut into a sheep's carcass and £130 in currency coins fell to the floor. A telephone call to the market from which the mutton had been received revealed the fact that a clerk had placed the money inside the carcass for safe keeping after banking hours.

Doan's kidney Pills are helping thousands. They are for kidney backache; And other kidney ills. Here is Jansville proof of their merit:

Mrs. M. Smith, 921 Center St. Jansville, Wis., says: "I suffered severely at times from rheumatic pains and backache. My sides hurt me and sometimes my kidneys were sore. I noticed that my kidneys acted too freely. One of my neighbors told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at the People's Drug Co. As soon as I began using them I felt better and my kidneys were in much better shape. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as I did three years ago when I told how much they did for me. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they live up to all the claims made for them."

An Electric-Iron means better ironing, the elimination of scorching or sticking. The clean, polished surface of an Electric Iron is always at the right temperature and it stays so, even on heavy, wet work. For the summer months especially you will appreciate the cool comfort of an Electric Iron. See the display in our window.

AN ARTISTIC DESIGN—By John Henry Newson

"Home of Character" No. 207

This is a most attractive design of a small house for a wide lot. The exterior is carried out in wide siding or large shingles and the roof can be covered with either shingles or slate. If climatic conditions permit, the exterior would look best in large shingles stained gray with white trim and the roof in gray or green shingles.

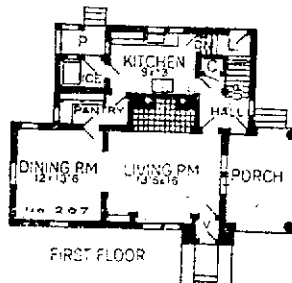

The living room is large with an attractive inglenook and is connected with the dining room by a wide cased opening. A serving pantry connects the kitchen and dining room, and the refrigerator is placed in a separate cold room. One chimney carries the furnace, fireplace and kitchen flues, which is quite a saving in expense.

As the hall is separated from the living room, no rear stairs are necessary. The second floor contains four bedrooms. The bathroom is placed over the kitchen and is conveniently located in reference to all of the bedrooms and the first floor.

FIRST FLOOR

SECOND FLOOR

This house 38x28 feet, could be built under ordinary conditions for about $4500, but this cost would depend on the elaboration of detail as well as local prices.

Any Gazette reader who desires further information concerning No. 207 should address "John Henry Newson, Homes of Character Dept., The Gazette." There will be no charge for Mr. Newson's answers.

The Beler Instantaneous Automatic Gas Water Heater

Furnishes hot water in every room, at any hour of the day or night—turn on the faucet and the hot water is there to meet your needs; close the faucet and the expense for gas stops instantly.

You need a "Beler" that's sure. You will wonder how you ever got along without it.

Make It Easier For the Housewife

House cleaning is so back-breaking that the housewife should not be obliged to do it oftener than in the spring and fall.

But if you postpone those repairs much longer—shingling, new floors, new windows, new porch, or what not—she'll have to do her spring house cleaning all over again—in the hot exhausting weather, too.

It costs no more to do it now and she will appreciate your thoughtfulness if you save her this extra work.

Fix Up Before the Clean-Up

Then the house cleaning can be done once for all. The house will look so much better, too, with the repairing done.

Let us know what the needed repairs are. You can readily find in our large complete stock just the repair materials you want. We will furnish you only the right quality of the right kind for the purpose for which you want it—and only as much as you need and you'll be pleased with our prices.

Let us help you help the housewife right away.

Little Benny's Note Book.

I was doing my lessing in the setting room just hite and awl of a suddin I sed, Pop, wat do you think it ses in my fleazeology book, and pop sed, I dont no sumthing about a, e, i, o, and u beeing danjerous vawills, dont it.

No sir, thats the langwidge book, I sed, it ses in the fleazeology book that everybody awt to let the dentist inspeckt thare teeth at least twice a year weathir they think enythings the mattir with them or not.

Thats verry good advice, sed pop, as the poet sed, A filling in time saves a toothless old age, suppose you run erround tomorrer andlet him see if he can find enything, but watch him close, or these fellas are liebel to put sumthing theare that wasent theare before you came in.

Awl rite, I sed, I can go tomorrer aftnoon, insted of going to skool.

You can but you wont, sed pop, youll go tomorrer aftnoon aftir skool.

So this aftnoon I went erround to the dentists and told him wat it ses in the fleazeology and he looked in my mouth with his insterments, saying, Yes, sure enuf, thares kwite a bad place heer that mite get werse if you dont have it filled.

Will it here, I sed.

O, a litle, sed the dentist.

A litle, sed the dentist.

G, I thart, fit was only going to hert a litle he wood say it wasent going to hert eny. And wen I got heam I didnt say enything about it, and aftir suppir pop sed, Well, did you go to the dentists, and I sed, Sir, I sed, as I beleeve you no perfectly well, did you go to the dentists, sed pop, and I sed yes sir.

Well, sed pop, and sed, I went this aftnoon and pop said, Well, and I sed, I went aftir skool, and pop sed, Well, wat did he say, wat did he haff to say.

He sed I had sumthing that needid filling, I sed, but I dont thin ki have, I cood feel it with my yung if I had, coodent I.

You cood not, sed pop, and wats more, you go erround agen the ferst thing aftir skool tomorrer and have it attened to.

Wich it will proberly hert like enything, proving n omattir wat youre fleazeology book sez, it is danjerous to tell yure mothir or yure fathir about it.

One fool in a family ought to be enough, but it seldom happens that way.

SAFETY POCKETS IN PANTS

Will Keep Things From Spilling, But Will Not Stay Wife's Fingers.

The safety trousers pocket, which is a subject of a recent invention, is not designed to stay wife's fingers when she takes occasion to explore their depths on certain occasions, but to prevent the contents of the pocket from spilling and scattering in all directions when the wearer undertakes to stretch out on the couch or sundry other occasions when he departs from his usual vertigal position.

The side pockets are generally favored in men's trousers at the present time be-
